

Policeman Quizzed In Swamp Murder Of Flint Girl, 17

Flint, July 15 (AP)—Sheriff Thomas Wolcott conferred with State Police today on whether to release the only "suspect" held so far in the slaying of 17-year-old Beatrice Dickerson.

Private policeman William Grenney remained in custody a second day on the basis of an "inconclusive and unsatisfactory" lie detector test. There was no charge against him.

State Police Sgt. Vincent Neering said one of four guns Grenney was known to own was missing. Grenney said he had sold it but could not remember to whom. None of the other three guns matched the .32 caliber bullet found under the slain girl's body.

The blonde movie cashier was killed near her home Monday night and dumped in a swamp. Police said rape had been attempted.

The Whistle Stop sandwich stand reported that Grenney had made his usual nightly call there in his car at about 2:30 a. m. This was around the estimated time Beatrice died. The stand is located on the other side of town from the slaying scene.

Sheriff Wolcott said he did not feel there was enough basis on which to hold Grenney much longer.

Under questioning yesterday Grenney, 59, father of a 20-year-old daughter, broke down and wept.

He said he escorted Beatrice to a bank depository Monday night with theater receipts but left her there.

In their pursuit of clues, police still sought the gun to match with the bullet found under Beatrice's half-clad body.

Funeral services were held for the girl at Mayville as the inquiry continued here.

Truman Truce Plan Accepted By Big Steel

Washington, July 15 (AP)—The steel industry's giants bowed to President Truman's insistence today and accepted his plan for dealing with their labor dispute.

Since the million-member CIO United Steel Workers already had accepted it, the action of the "big three" producers headed off for at least 60 days a strike scheduled to begin in some plants at midnight.

Most of the smaller companies already had agreed to Mr. Truman's proposal—that he appoint a three-member board to investigate the wage-pension dispute and make recommendations for a settlement while, meantime, work continues for 60 days.

The big three—U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic—rejected this idea when Mr. Truman advanced it Tuesday. Their stand was that he should act under the Taft-Hartley law. That law provides for fact-finding boards but says the boards shall not make recommendations.

In the face of White House pressure, they gave up today—first Bethlehem, the No. 2 producer; then Republic, No. 3; and finally, "Big Steel" itself, the U. S. Steel Corporation.

All emphasized that they would not be bound by the board's recommendations. Mr. Truman had not asked that they, or the union, bind themselves to take the board's proposals.

U. S. Steel already had banked some furnaces and given outward evidences of a willingness to take a strike, if necessary, when it finally announced at 1 p. m. (EST) that it would go along with the President's plan.

In a telegram to Mr. Truman, Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, said his company still questioned the propriety of Mr. Truman's proposal since it was not taken under the Taft-Hartley act.

"We feel we are being compelled to follow in order to avoid a strike," Fairless declared.

San Francisco Bans Kirsten Flagstad

Opera Singer Unpopular
For War Activities

San Francisco, July 15 (AP)—Trustees of the San Francisco War Memorial opera house late yesterday banned the scheduled fall appearances of Wagnerian soprano Kirsten Flagstad.

In a resolution the War Memorial board of trustees said the action was taken "because of the controversial character of her public appearances elsewhere in the United States."

Attorney Herman Phleger, representing the San Francisco Opera Association, said the board's ruling may cause cancellation of San Francisco's opera season.

Twenty performances between Sept. 20 and Oct. 23 have been scheduled. Phleger said the whole program was financially dependent on four Wagnerian operas with Miss Flagstad.

At a public hearing before the board Superior Judge Milton D. Sapiro, representing the American Legion, opposed the soprano's singing in the opera house because of her activities during the war.

She flew to Norway via Germany in the fall of 1941 to be with her husband, Henry Johansen, a wealthy lumberman.

Sapiro argued it would be better for the opera to go out of business than to hire Miss Flagstad.

Northeast States Get Light Showers For Wilting Crops

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More light rain fell on parts of the dry stricken Northeastern states today.

The U. S. weather bureau said the showers were quite general from Eastern Pennsylvania to Southern Vermont and Southern New Hampshire. They should help revive wilting crops which have suffered millions of dollars damage because of no rain for more than six weeks.

Temperatures are slightly lower in the Great Lakes region but hot weather prevailed from the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific coast. A low of 45 was reported at Cadillac, Mich., early today. The mercury yesterday climbed to 119 at Silver Lake, Calif.

Five Buenos Aires Imps Are Six Today

Buenos Aires, July 15 (AP)—The Diligent's "five young imps," as their father calls the quintuplets, are six today—that is six years old.

Their household will realize it better tomorrow because they are in school today. Franco Diligent's parental boss of the two boys and three girls, postponed their sixth anniversary party so the hilarity would not interfere with their education.

Franco Jr., Carlos Albert, Maria Fernanda, Maria Esther and Maria Cristina Diligent—the precocious and peppy youngsters—are expected to keep a large staff of servants on the go, when they celebrate tomorrow. Papa Diligent says they really tear the house apart when they get started.

Civil War Veteran Has 108th Birthday

Rochester, N. Y., July 15 (AP)—James A. Hard celebrated his 108th birthday today with one principal worry—the lack of large-sized aromatic cigars.

The oldest living member of the Grand Army of the Republic also was mildly concerned over whether he will get to the GAR's final encampment next month at Indianapolis. He hopes to make it.

NO PICKERS NEEDED

Traverse City (AP)—Municipal officials have renewed their plea that would-be cherry pickers stay away from the Traverse City area. More pickers than can be employed now are in the vicinity, it was reported, and the crop will not be ready for another week.

Congress Speeds Up Action On Military Unification Project

By HOWARD DORSON
Washington, July 15 (AP)—Quick passage by Congress of a military unification bill now looks like a cinch.

The House Armed Services committee nimbly reversed itself on the issue yesterday, and approved a bill to reorganize the armed forces' business-finances affairs. One member said instructions from Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (R-Mass) were partly responsible for the reversal.

Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass) announced shortly after the committee vote that the bill is on the House calendar for debate Monday. It is expected to pass without much opposition.

Adding to the pressure was a reminder of Senate interest in unification, expressed by Senator Tydings (D-Md). He announced that the military pay bill passed by the House will stay on ice in the Senate Armed Services committee until the House passes the finances bill.

When the House passes it, House and Senate conferees can get together on a compromise bill containing all essential features of the unification bill originally passed by the Senate. That bill bears Tydings' name.

Order Expected Monday
The House committee voted the finances bill out unanimously yesterday after Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) notified it that President Truman has a military reorganization plan on his desk ready to send to Congress. Vinson said the plan is almost an exact duplicate of the Tydings bill, blocked 13 to 12 by the House committee Tuesday, except for the section on military business management.

President Truman told his news conference yesterday that he is working on the reorganization plan. Like Vinson, he said it would accomplish substantially what was proposed in the legislation the House committee sidetracked.

The unification law amendments, including greater powers for the secretary of defense, now can go into effect either of two ways: By presidential order, plus the finances bill, or by Senate and House agreement on a unification bill.

The presidential order, expected Monday, would take effect in 60 days provided Congress stays in session that long and neither House nor Senate disapproves it.

Aircraft Owners Need New Licenses By Midnight July 31

Lansing, July 15 (AP)—Owners of Michigan aircraft have until midnight of July 31 to get their new licenses.

The state department of aeronautics said it had mailed registration certificates to all plane owners.

This year the certificates will be issued directly by the department and not by authorized agents throughout the state, the policy last year.

In lieu of property taxes on planes, aircraft owners must pay a fee of one-half cent a pound of net empty weight of their ships, up to a maximum of $50.

Czech Archbishop Locked In, Gagged

Defiant Beran Awaits
Next Move Of Reds

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Prague, Czechoslovakia, July 15 (AP)—Gagged and literally under lock and key, defiant Archbishop Josef Beran sat tight in his palace today waiting for the Communist government to make the next move against him and the Roman Catholic church.

The nation wondered: will the Communists jail him, and if so, when and on what charges?

All sorts of charges have been made against Beran and his bishops by government officials and the controlled press—charges such as incitement to insurrection and "espionage for unfriendly foreign powers."

Would the Communists dare now to arrest the nation's primate when Slovak Catholics have demonstrated they will rise with primitive weapons in defense of village priests?

So far as is known, Beran has not emerged from his palace since Sunday, June 19, when Communist hecklers shouted him down in St. Vitus Cathedral.

Church sources say the Communists would like to get him to leave on a summer holiday—then, lock him out.

Load of Ice Traps Two in Burning Cab

Clarksdale, Miss., July 15 (AP)—Two men died when a load of ice trapped them in a burning truck cab here yesterday.

Highway patrolmen identified the dead as Willie Wagner, the driver, and J. D. Stewart, 21, a trucking company employee.

Patrolmen said the machine left the road, turned over and caught fire. The impact threw the ice forward, pinning the men in the cab.

Big Mystery Meeting Held In Washington

U. P. Legion Meet Opens Here Today

REGISTRATION—Looking for all the world like they were "dressing right" on Claude Tobin, Jr., new commander of the host Cloverland post, Escanaba American Legion, are these three stalwarts who were among the first to register as the twenty-ninth annual U. P. American Legion convention opened here today. It will continue tomorrow and Sunday, highlighted by a gala parade on Ludington street at 2 tomorrow afternoon and the music festival at the high school athletic field at 8 tomorrow night, in which 23 top-ranking musical and marching organizations will take part. Actually, these men are not "in the ranks"—not now, that is—but they're registering for the three-day meeting, the first U. P. convention in Escanaba since 1936. From left to right, the men are Tobin, Ralph R. Olsen, of Escanaba, Upper Peninsula field service officer; Frank Wildman, of Traverse City, state field service officer, and Ben Koenig, of Traverse City, child welfare chairman. Slayer Comes Down From Water Tower

Sunburned Ohio Convict
Apologizes At Prison

Lima, O., July 15 (AP)—Raymond Jutla, the demented slayer, was tired and sunburned after his 29 hours atop the state hospital's 130-foot watertower.

He also was happy—and remorseful.

"Doc, I'm awful sorry for all the trouble I've caused you," he told Dr. R. E. Bushong, hospital superintendent.

The 35-year-old insane killer came down yesterday from his perch on top of the watertower at the state hospital for the criminal insane. He was happy after being assured "released convicts" would not harm his family.

The Warren, O., man had scampered up the tower Wednesday morning. He refused to come down until protection against "some released convicts" was furnished his family.

To assure the "protection," Jutla demanded that Police Chief William Johnson of Warren, send him a telegram. The message, he insisted, had to be delivered by a uniformed Western Union messenger.

When the telegram was delivered, Jutla kept his word. He climbed down the ladder.

Asked if he was hungry, the killer said "no." But he quickly took two candy bars from his pocket and wolfed them down. He drank a cup of water in one gulp.

Jutla, a muscular, heavy-set man, first appeared to be weakening about noon yesterday. He complained of a headache, thirst and a sunburn.

The temperature soared to more than 90 degrees Wednesday and Thursday.

Jutla has been serving a life sentence since 1935 for the rape-slaying of Mrs. Marie Tobin, 25, of Warren.

Buses Immobilized In New York Strike

New York, July 15 (AP)—More than a million New Yorkers hurried alternate transportation today after a lightning strike immobilized buses on 39 routes.

Riders—who could do so handily—switched to subways, which were put on stepped-up schedules to handle the extra crush. Others hailed taxicabs, if they could find empty ones. Some walked.

The stoppage, touched off yesterday by the lay-off of four New York City Omnibus Corp. mechanics, spread early today to the Fifth Avenue Coach Co., affecting a total of 3,300 workers.

A city-sponsored peace meeting last night failed to bring any agreement between the companies and the CIO Transport Workers union. The session was adjourned "subject to recall."

Conferences Still Going In Northland Greyhound Walkout

Minneapolis, July 15 (AP)—Conferences aimed at ending the Northland Greyhound bus strike continued here today.

Participants have given no indication whether they are making progress. Federal negotiators said yesterday they regarded as a favorable indication the fact that talks were continuing.

James T. Spillane, Chicago regional director of the federal conciliation service, and Carl Carligen, Minneapolis conciliator, are sitting in with representatives of the company and the AFL Bus Drivers Union.

The union asks a 15 cents an hour increase for hourly paid workers and an additional half-cent a mile for drivers. The strike began 12 weeks ago. About 1,300 employees in eight Midwestern states and Canada are out.

Jake Bird's Career Ended On Gallows

Negro Transient Hanged;
Admitted 44 Murders

Walla Walla, Wash., July 15 (AP)—Death on the gallows early today ended the bloody wanderings of Jake Bird.

The 48-year-old Negro transient had confessed committing or having knowledge of 44 murders during his cross country roaming.

He was hanged specifically for the ax murder of Mrs. Bertha Kludt in Tacoma, Wash., on Oct. 30, 1947.

Mrs. Kludt and her daughter, Beverly, were slain when they caught Bird prowling their home.

Although he received little formal education, Bird's legal knowledge enabled him to carry his case through numerous courts and postpone his execution for a year and a half.

Shortly after his conviction, Bird started law enforcement officials by confessing he knew about or took part in 44 killings. Subsequent investigation of leads which he furnished solved at least 11 murders in Iowa, Colorado, Utah, Indiana, Illinois, Nebraska and Washington.

In addition to his crime career, Bird won wide attention with his "hex" on men involved in his trial. Six persons on whom he pronounced the hex later died.

11 per Cent Gain in State Nat'l Guard

Lansing, July 15 (AP)—The Michigan National Guard gained 11 per cent in strength during the first six months of this year, the adjutant general's office reported today.

The Guard now has 9,619 officers and men.

The guard lost 1,435 men during the six-month period, 260 of them to the armed forces.

Auto Workers Want Huge Walkout Fund

Union Hoping To Raise
$10,000,000 In Hurry

By GLENN ENGLE
Milwaukee, Wis., July 15 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers Union, its political choice charted, turned today to means of raising up to $10,000,000 in a hurry for any big strike.

A proposal, to be put to convention delegates as a constitutional amendment, was particularly timely in light of a threatened system-wide strike of 106,000 Ford workers only days or weeks away.

Also on the calendar for what might be the convention's last day were some hot grievance cases—one of them involving Harold Christoffel—and a backlog of other matters.

The proposed strike fund amendment, under certain circumstances, would lift the $1 a year assessment limit the UAW executive board can impose on the union's million members.

These circumstances deal with a major strike, meaning against one of the auto industry's "big three" producers—General Motors, Ford or Chrysler.

Even then, however, $10,000,000 could not be raised overnight. Such a sum could be amassed over a year's time. With the present limit on assessments, only $1,000,000 can be raised by that means in one year.

To produce the larger amount would cost each member almost $1 a month in addition to his dues.

Another proposal to raise the dues rate from $1.50 to $2 a month was withdrawn by the constitution committee yesterday in the face of almost certain defeat.

U. S. Marines Land On Island of Crete

Aboard the U. S. Sixth Task Fleet, Mediterranean Sea, July 15 (AP)—Some 1,200 U. S. Marines hit the beach on the island of Crete tomorrow—but the "invasion" is just a training exercise, approved by the Greek government.

Never before have the marines made one of their famed landings so far east of the United States.

MONSTER PIKE HOOKED

White House Gags Top Men Of Nation At Secret Session

New Development Hinted
In Atomic Weapons

By OLIVE DE WOLF

Washington, July 15 (AP)—A White House shield of secrecy today threw a tight cover over a super-mysterious conference which brought President Truman together with top military, atomic, diplomatic and congressional leaders.

For two hours and 33 minutes these men—the list was impressive—were together behind closed doors last night in historic Blair house, the president's temporary home.

There was no announcement whatever of what went on. However, the identity of the participants pointed strongly toward some development in the atomic weapons field on an international level.

The 16 men who were closeted with Mr. Truman were singularly close-mouthed as they left. What little they did reply to reporters' questions could be summed up:

"If anything is going to be said, the president will say it."

President Not Talking
Mr. Truman wasn't talking. There was no sign that he would later.

The conference, staged against the dual backdrop of (a) the sharp Senate debate on the Atlantic Pact and Arms-for-Europe and (b) a congressional hearing into charges of mismanagement of the atomic energy program, threw open the doors to wide areas of speculation.

This was true because of the secrecy that surrounded everything, even though it could be that nothing sensational was involved. Here's the list of those at the conference with the president:

Vice President Barkley, Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Johnson, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has been presiding as chairman of the Joint Military Chiefs of Staff; House Speaker Rayburn of Texas; Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee; Chairman Tydings (D-Md) of the Senate Armed Services committee; Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) of the Joint Senate-House Atomic Energy committee.

Also Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), Republican foreign policy spokesman and member of both the foreign relations and joint atomic committees; Senator Hennepin (R-Iowa), a member of both groups and author of the "incredible mismanagement" charges against the atomic energy commission (AEC); Rep. Durham (D-NC), vice chairman of the joint committee, and Rep. Cole (R-NY) ranking GOP House member on the committee.

Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the AEC; Joseph Volpe, Jr., AEC general counsel, and two unidentified men.

No Definite Clues
Both the areas of speculation—and the mystery—were enhanced by an accumulating number of facts, none of which supplied any definitive answers. Among them:

1. That the conference itself was never announced officially, but only acknowledged by Mr. Truman at his press conference after the news already had seeped out.

2. That the conference was held in the evening at Blair house, instead of during the day at the White House.

3. That the White House imposed a "no pictures" ban and the White House press office declared there was no statement to be forthcoming.

4. That the usual jovial vice president Barkley was grim-faced, and Senator Tydings was cryptic to an unusual extent.

5. That, as it was disclosed eventually, there was a "gentle"

Boost Pushed In U. S. Output

Washington, July 15 (AP)—A bill designed to boost American output of goods and services to $300,000,000,000 a year was ready for the Senate today but chances for congressional action on it this session appeared slim.

However, President Truman, who set the $300,000,000,000 goal in his economic report to the nation, came up with a pace-pushing plan of his own.

He announced a program of increased federal buying and spending in areas hardest hit by the

Grand Rapids Puts Delay In Recall Vote Up to Court

Lansing, July 15 (AP)—The state supreme court may decide Tuesday whether the election to recall Mayor George W. Welsh is to be delayed 19 days.

The court is expected to rule then on a petition for modification of the court's order fixing Aug. 4 as the date for the election. The new date proposed is Aug. 23.

Grand Rapids City Clerk R. Stanton Kilpatrick informed the court that it was impossible for him to get voting machines ready for the Aug. 4 election date.

He said the city commission previously had ordered a special election July 20 on the creation of a housing commission and that 15 days must elapse before the voting machines may be unlocked. Another 15 days is needed to reset the machines, he said.

Street Dance, 40 et 8 Fun, Open House On Legion Menu Tonight

Thousands Pouring Into City For '49 Convention

Thousands of American Legionnaires from 56 posts in the Upper Peninsula and from Lower Michigan centers and thousands of visitors poured into Escanaba today to participate in the 1949 three-day Upper Michigan American Legion convention that promises to equal, if not exceed, any previous meeting.

Tomorrow Is The 'Big Day'

Parade, Festival, Ball Game Featured

As is customary wherever American Legion conventions are held, Saturday, the "middle day," is the big entertainment day in the annual Upper Peninsula American Legion convention, which opened here this morning.

Following registration and joint meetings today, the program tonight calls for an open house at the Legion clubrooms on Ludington street at 8:30, a street dance in the clubrooms at 9 and 40 et 8 activities and parade and general all-around fun, beginning at 9:30.

Members of the Escanaba musicians union will provide the music for the street dance, which promises to be an interesting highlight of the three-day convention. But the "big day," without a doubt, will be tomorrow when all the stars will be pulled out for a parade at 2 that probably will fill Ludington street to the brim, a baseball game for the U. P. Legion championship at 4, the convention dinner at 5:45 and the colorful music festival at the high school athletic field at 8 p. m.

Headed by the internationally known Jackson, Mich., Zouaves, sensational hit of the 1948 U. P. convention in Ishpeming last year, 23 musical and marching organizations will appear both in the parade and in the music festival. Following a memorial service at which the Rev. James G. Ward, pastor of St. Stephen's church, will speak and the Escanaba barber shop chorus under the direction of Sam Ham will sing, the 23 units will compete for U. P. championships under especially provided lights at the athletic field. A crowd of 10,000 is expected to see this spectacular show.

Among the units which will perform in the parade and festival are the fast-stepping Zouaves who climax their act by clearing a 14-foot wall (30 men and all their equipment), the Racine, Wis., Boy Scouts drum and bugle corps, The U. P. champion Sault Ste. Marie Legion drum and bugle group, Ironwood's two fine organizations, Menominee city band, Gwin band, Newberry band, Iron Mountain K.P. unit, Marquette clown band, Fifth Army band, Escanaba city band, Escanaba high school band and the Cleveland Legion post's drum corps, who have a fairly fast marching cadence of their own.

Tickets for music festival are on sale at several downtown places in Escanaba and in communities throughout Delta county.

Woman Dead 2 Days As Brother Waits To Call Mortician

Cleveland, (AP)—A 78-year-old woman lay dead on a davenport for more than two days while her 65-year-old brother and a sister, 75, went about their duties as usual, Coroner Samuel R. Gerber reported.

Gerber was notified of the death after Julius Pomerene, the brother, telephoned an undertaker.

The elderly victim was Laura Pomerene. She had lived in a dusty, ornate 11-room house in East Cleveland with her brother and a sister, Susan.

Pomerene said he knew his sister had died, but he didn't feel like calling an undertaker. "We were unprepared and weren't feeling very well ourselves," he said.

An open house, street dance and 40 et 8 parade are on the program tonight.

Auxiliary members began registering at the Legion clubrooms on Ludington street at 9 this morning, and Legionnaires began signing their names on the ledger there at 10 this morning.

That signalled the start of three days of business sessions, celebrations, entertainment and services, highlighted by the gala parade and musical festival tomorrow afternoon and evening, respectively, and climaxed by the final business meeting at 10 Sunday morning.

Joint Meeting

The vanguard of Legionnaires and their guests began to arrive in Escanaba yesterday evening, when final meetings were held to complete all last-minute plans for the big 1949 get-together.

The Legion and auxiliary held its joint meeting in the clubrooms this afternoon, a Gold Star tea was served at St. Patrick's clubroom late this afternoon and a joint meeting of auxiliary units of the 11th and 12th districts at the Elks temple was on tap this evening. Violet Pavlov, 11th district president, and Stella Rahm, 12th district leader, were to preside.

Included on the auxiliary program tonight is the pledge of allegiance led by Gertrude Grand-champ. Fifth zone vice-president; national anthem with Josephine Barron at the piano; invocation and silence in honor of deceased led by Elizabeth Kaiser, department chaplain; a welcome by Lillian Greis, Escanaba president; reports, an address by Miss Bertha Proestel, department secretary-treasurer, and talks by Vivian Hahne, community service chairman; Dorothy McDonald, Girl State committee, and Mrs. Nan Shephard, Michigan department president.

Luncheon, Banquet

Both Legionnaires and auxiliary members will attend the child welfare luncheon at St. Patrick's hall at noon tomorrow and the convention banquet at St. Joseph's dining room at 5:45 tomorrow afternoon at which William McCauley, former Escanaba now serving as district attorney of Milwaukee county, Wisconsin, will be the principal speaker.

Highlights of the program tomorrow are the parade at 2, U. P. junior baseball championship game at the city diamond adjacent to the athletic field at 4 between Menominee and Iron River and the music festival to be followed by "open house" at the Escanaba Legion post clubrooms. Details of tomorrow's program are published in the adjoining column.

FROM IRON MOUNTAIN—This well-known unit, the Knights of Pythias drum and bugle corps of Iron Mountain, has traveled to nearly all parts of the United States and placed high in many conventions. It is a former national champion and reorganized in time for its first appearance as a new unit at the 1948 American Legion convention in Ishpeming, it won second place. The KP corps has 22 members and is under the direction of Calvin M. Evers. They're a tricky marching bunch. Watch them go in the parade on Ludington street at 2 tomorrow afternoon and in the music festival at 8 tomorrow night at the athletic field in the 1949 Legion meeting here.

William McCauley, former Escanaba resident and district attorney for Milwaukee county, Wisconsin, will be the principal speaker at the U. P. American Legion Convention banquet to be held in the parlors at St. Joseph's church here tomorrow, beginning at 5:45 p. m.

McCauley will speak on "Preparedness and Communistic Influence in the United States."

McCauley, a World War I veteran with service in the Navy, was one of the original members of Escanaba Cloverland Legion Post 82. He served as assistant district attorney in Milwaukee from 1923 to 1927. In November of 1944 he was elected to the position of district attorney, a position which he has retained since that time. He was recently in the headlines in connection with the Babich case.

Son of Capt. Charles McCauley of Escanaba who died in 1944, he is the brother of Mrs. Michael B. Jensen, 602 Lake Shore Drive, Escanaba. He is a graduate of the Escanaba high school and completed his legal training at Marquette university.

Life Photographer Takes Pictures Of Little Bay de Noc

Little Bay de Noc, known far and wide for its big walleye pike, may be included in a series of color pictures of "Famous Fishing Places of America" to be published by Life magazine next spring. Andreas Feininger of New York City, staff photographer of Life, came to Escanaba yesterday looking for a walleye pike picture subject. After looking over the area he took several color shots at the head of Little Bay de Noc, off Garth point.

Feininger is making a tour of the United States, taking color pictures of famous fishing spots. He came here from the Apostle Islands in Lake Superior where he photographed a lake trout fishing site. Previously, he was in the Missouri Ozarks. Later, he will go to Florida and the Pacific Northwest.

The Life series will be unusual in that no fishermen or fish will be shown in the pictures of the fishing spots.

No Convention Complete Without Drum-Bugle Corps

CORPS OF IRONWOOD LEGION POST — One of many highly efficient drum and bugle corps among 25 musical organizations which will appear in the parade tomorrow afternoon and music festival tomorrow night during the U. P. American Legion convention here will be the competent aggregation pictured above. It is the Ironwood Legion drum and bugle corps composed entirely of former members of the famed championship Sons of the Legion Corps which performed before World War II. The group won three out of four state contests, placed eighth in national competition in Chicago in 1939 and seventh in the national in Milwaukee in 1941. The corps is under the direction of Orville Collick. Among other top-notchers in the parade and festival will be the Jackson, Mich., Zouaves, Racine, Wis., Boy Scouts drum and bugle corps, the U. P. champion drum and bugle corps of Sault Ste. Marie and other units from Marquette, Menominee, Negaunee, Gwinn, Newberry, Iron Mountain, Hancock, L'Anse, Rock, Appleton, Wis., and Escanaba. The Fifth Army band of Chicago also will be featured. The parade starts at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and the music festival starts at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the Escanaba athletic field.

FREE BUS RIDES FOR SHOPPERS

Sacramento Merchants Offer Novel Deal

Sacramento, Calif.—Shoppers in California's sunny capital city, Sacramento, ride buses downtown and back home again for free.

The downtown stores have been doing the paying for a year—and the plan is considered a success. It's an answer to the problem of traffic congestion and resultant bad effects on retail trade in the city center.

Sacramento claims one of the largest per person automobile registrations of any city in the world. That is one reason shoppers are urged to leave their cars at home and take the bus.

More automobiles mean more traffic snarls in the downtown sections and fewer places for buyers to park. That means many persons will go into the less crowded suburbs to do their buying.

This city of about 130,000 has a string of busy new shopping centers at its sprawling edges. These have everything from gowns to glue, advertise downtown prices and spread plenty of gravel around outside to provide parking areas. One of these suburban centers opened for business only three years ago and now has 55 stores.

So a year ago some 60 downtown merchants joined to sponsor free bus rides to keep customers coming to the city. In the 12 months they bought and handed out 424,673 bus tokens, costing seven cents each. That's $29,727.11 worth. Here's the way the scheme works:

Seven Cents

Milady pays her seven cents when she boards a bus to go downtown. She asks for a dated ticket. Upon making a purchase of at least one dollar in any participating store, she is given two bus tokens. The only requirement is that she must make the bus between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.—to encourage her to avoid the morning and evening rush hours when workers need the bus space.

Bus Line Manager A. R. Thompson says the plan is moving about 20,000 more passengers a month to the downtown sector.

Sacramento pioneered the free ride plan, but it has been adopted since in other cities, including nearby Stockton and Spokane, Wash.

Queries for information have come from officials in such other cities as New York, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake, Phoenix, Pasadena, Davenport, Rock Island and Flint.

Senate Will Act Soon On Bill To Aid Finnish Girl

Washington—Senate action on a bill entitling Sirkka Saarela to permanent residence in the United States is expected as soon as the Atlantic Pact debate is ended, according to Senator Homer Ferguson, Michigan Republican.

Sirkka is the pretty Finnish girl who came to this country to become a laboratory technician, and who now works for St. Francis hospital in Escanaba. According to immigration officials, she "violated" her student visa by accepting a job, and was thus subject to deportation.

Congressman Charles Potter, Michigan Republican, guided a bill through the house legalizing her residence here. Senator Ferguson has been sparking the same bill in the upper chamber.

According to Ferguson, the bill was reported favorably by the judiciary committee. It is on the unanimous consent calendar, which will be considered by the Senate when the Atlantic Pact debate is concluded. Ferguson expects the bill to pass, and enable Sirkka to become a citizen of the United States.

Welcome, U. P. Legion

ESCANABA extends a cordial welcome to the members of the American Legion and Auxiliaries of the Upper Peninsula who are opening their annual three-day convention here today.

The American Legion as usual will present an outstanding convention program, with colorful parades, fine music and other interesting attractions. Several thousand delegates and visitors will come to Escanaba to attend the convention. Not all of them will spend the entire three days here, as some will be driving here daily from nearby communities. Housing accommodations, nevertheless, will be filled to capacity.

The American Legion is one of the important organizations in American life. Besides representing the interests of the veterans who served their country in time of danger to its security, the Legion carries on day in and day out many worthwhile citizenship and community service projects. Its work on behalf of American youth is of notable importance.

Escanaba is glad to have the opportunity to be host to the men and women of the American Legion. We know they will find Escanaba a hospitable community and that arrangements for their convention program will be satisfactory. Escanaba always makes a special effort to have every convention a real success.

Shoot 200,000 Deer, Wisconsin Advised

THE immediate killing of 200,000 deer was recommended as a solution to Wisconsin's game problem by Duward L. Allen, biologist of the U. S. Wild Life Service, in a talk at the University of Wisconsin conference on conservation recently.

In his frank talk, Allen referred to Wisconsin's expenditure of $127,000 for feeding deer last year as "all nonsense." He charged that the public, with all its different notions about conservation problems, is hampering the work of game management experts in Wisconsin and elsewhere.

State conservation departments are very responsive to public opinion. In Michigan, the buck law was effective in rebuilding the whitetail herd with the same success as was achieved in Pennsylvania. But eventually the buck law proved too effective, and certain areas in the Lower and Upper Peninsulas now are over stocked with deer and are virtually browsed out. With the food supply below the lifeline, deer have been dying of starvation.

The Michigan Conservation department's game experts have been advocating for some years the controlled shooting of deer in browsed out areas to bring the game population and food supply into closer balance. But the public, including many sportsmen's club members, has been over-sold on the buck law and opposes any effort to disturb it. Game management experts will have to wait until the public approves.

Re-Trial May Solve Hiss Puzzle

NEXT fall Alger Hiss will have a new trial. It is unfortunate for his and the public's sake that the jury which weighed the evidence in his first trial could not reach a verdict. But it is understandable. Any fair-minded person might have trouble threading his way through the maze of contradictions, discrepancies and unexplained matters in the case.

Hiss was accused of perjury. A federal grand jury said he lied last year when he denied ever giving any secret state department papers to Whitaker Chambers, former Communist courier; that he lied again when he said he never saw Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937.

Even though the jury which tried Hiss voted 8 to 4 for conviction, his innocence must be presumed until he is declared guilty by a unanimous vote of a new jury—or finally cleared in the same manner.

None of us, therefore, has any right to prejudice his case. But we can hope that in a second trial the prosecutors and defense lawyers will succeed in dispelling some of the confusion surrounding the basic issues involved.

One cardinal fact stands out. Chambers had in his possession copies of secret government papers. They came from the state department office where Hiss worked. As a stranger to the department, Chambers himself could hardly have taken the documents, even if security were as lax in those days as defense attorneys argued.

Someone else, then, had to take the papers out of the department, prepare copies, pass them to Chambers, and return the originals.

Chambers named five men who supplied him with secret government data. But only two, Hiss and Henry Julien Wadleigh, worked in the state department. Wadleigh has confessed stealing papers to turn over to Chambers, but said he did not take the documents at issue in the Hiss case. Hiss, of course, denied flatly either taking out any papers or giving any to Chambers.

Evidently four of the 12 jurors were impressed with the possibility that perhaps someone not thus far identified by Chambers took the secret papers from Hiss' desk or files and handed copies to the confessed spy courier.

At this point, however, another complexity arises. The government contends most of the documents in Chambers' possession were typed on an old Woodstock typewriter once owned by Hiss. Chambers testified Mrs. Hiss did the actual typing.

The Hisses denied ever typing any copies of secret papers. But a government document expert testified that comparison of the papers with letters admittedly written by Mrs. Hiss on the typewriter in question, showed that the documents were typed on the same machine.

No two typewriters behave exactly alike, so the product of a particular machine may often be identified in the same way that an individual's handwriting is traced. And an individual's typing errors may follow a pattern.

Eight of the jurors told newsmen they considered the government's typing evidence crucial and conclusive in their votes for conviction. The others seemed to feel that even if it could be proved that one of the Hisses typed the papers, there was still a chance someone else might have given them to Chambers.

These are the main avenues of the case. When it comes to trial again, they must be explored more fully than they were the first time. Somewhere along these routes lies the real solution to the Hiss-Chambers puzzle.

BAD NEWS FOR THE CARRIERS (Green Bay Press-Gazette)

Although the frozen orange concentrate business is but four years of age, it has already developed into a giant, promises to knock the carriers out of welcome revenue and may even make the sight of an orange an oddity except in the regions where they grow.

The original plants in Florida sent forth 225,000 gallons of the product four years ago. Last season they turned out nearly two million gallons. This year they estimate that they will make eight million gallons. The carriers will have to be content with the revenue for carrying these eight million gallons instead of nearly 13 million bushels of fruit that went into the concentrate.

This turn of events cannot make the carriers happy. But they know they must accept it. Where they lose, gains are made elsewhere. The overall result is advancement. Add together thousands of these items called progress, and we have shorter hours, better incomes and a brighter future, provided we do not take that future too much for granted.

ATOM JITTERS GRIP THE LAND (Louisville Courier-Journal)

Mr. Lilienthal and scientists themselves have attempted to warn congress of what will happen when the ultimate limits of superactivity are reached. Such men as will work out the incalculable future of atomic research cannot be drafted into the laboratories. They cannot be followed night and day by the FBI, or have their fingernails scraped for secret plans or grains of uranium. They cannot be denied full freedom to discuss, to argue, to question or refuse to answer questions. Any man who enters the program at this moment, when the very word "atom" causes senators to quiver and the newspapers to pull out their largest type, is subject to special harassments and to a wavering suspicion of motive which is the uglier because the interrogators so obviously do not know what they fear or how to find out.

OPEN COLLEGES TO THE POOR (The Kenosha Evening News)

In the United States there is a universal desire to make college education available to a greater number of people, by reducing financial limitations to the minimum. It was clearly shown by the experience with government financed education of World War II veterans that any step which greatly modifies the system of financial selection will strain present college facilities to the bursting point. Some system of selection other than the financial one certainly is desirable, but what should it be? Certainly it should not be political. Probably it should be based on the ability to learn and to apply knowledge, but better tests of that ability are needed. As we work toward wider educational opportunities, we should work also toward keener selection of students.

It's nice to be the head of the house—but tough to have the headaches that go with it.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

HOW SHOULD WE PRONOUNCE WORDS ENDING WITH "Y"?

St. Paul: Will you referee a dispute? Our third-grade children are being taught that the final-y of such words as lady, city, baby is pronounced with a short "i" sound as in did, sit. We of course have always pronounced -y as "ee" (long-"e"). The dictionary agrees with the teacher; and now our children are going around saying "babi, ladi, citi," etc. It makes them sound as if they had a speech defect. Whatever you say on the subject will be accepted by all concerned.—Mrs. P.

A. I'm afraid teacher is taking her dictionary too literally. It is true that final -y is shown as short "i" by the Merriam Webster dictionaries and their imitators. But in paragraph 155, page xlvii, of the pronunciation section of Webster's New International, it is explained that -y has a tendency to vary toward "ee" (long-"e"). Actually, however, final -y is almost invariably pronounced "ee" in good American speech, and all the dictionaries in Christendom will not change that fact.

It is not good usage to pronounce final -y as short "i". On the contrary, to do so produces an unnatural, horrid-sounding gab-

U.S. Influence Down In Europe

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—In predicting business the safest course is to stick to the obvious probabilities. Hence the following: limited authorization to send surplus war material to Europe.

Childs

Prediction No. 2: As a result of this failure, the enthusiasm in Western Europe for the North Atlantic pact will continue to dwindle and the chances of the pact becoming a true bulwark of peace and security will have been reduced by half at a conservative estimate.

The members of the American delegation to the recent foreign ministers' conference in Paris were all agreed that as the result of a firm and positive American policy the Soviet Union was for the first time on the defensive. What is happening in congress now may reverse that condition and once again give the initiative to the bosses of Soviet Communism who have never abandoned for a moment their determination to master the world.

PREFER FIFTH COLUMNS

They prefer, of course, to master it through ideological penetration and infiltration by fifth columns. But failing that, and they have been slipping in recent months, they are prepared to take over a defenseless European continent by force of arms. At their convenience, and in the face of the confusion and the sense of being alone and deserted by the democratic forces in Western Europe, they will combine the two techniques.

The tendency of those who have planned and worked and hoped for a decisive, constructive policy in Europe must be a kind of angry despair. The natural impulse would be to strike out at an obvious villain who can be shown to have pulled the props out from under those carefully laid plans.

Sen. Robert A. Taft offers himself as an obvious candidate. But he is not well cast as a villain.

Instead of anger his extraordinary speech on the pact must produce, even in those who have given so much to preparing a plan and a policy, an infinite sadness. With all this integrity, his earnestness, his capacity for hard work, he comes out with a complete and cheerful refusal to face the meaning of the present-day world. In one sentence at the beginning of his speech he said it:

"We are, of course, interested in the welfare of the rest of the world because we are a humane nation."

In this view everything that we have done is a generous gesture for the welfare of alien peoples whose sad plight touches us. It wholly ignores the tremendous self-interest of the United States in preserving all that can be preserved of the western world.

TOO LATE NOW

But it is too late to look for villains. It is a futile exercise. The time has come to say that under our government of divided powers rapid and responsible action through the recurring phases of a prolonged crisis may be impossible.

Think back to that moment now three and a half months ago when the foreign ministers of Western Europe stood under the fierce lights of the television cameras to sign the pact. Each minister had come to that decision after a long and painful travail, realizing the grave risk he was taking for his country. Each minister as a member of his government and a leader in the majority party in that government had worked out the essential political agreement and understanding.

The exception was our own secretary of state, Dean Acheson. As a functionary of the executive branch of the government he had directed the preparatory steps leading up to the scene. When he was asked by the foreign ministers, as he was asked, if it was certain to be approved—and implemented—he could not give a definite answer.

While Acheson might have taken senate and house foreign relation committees more nearly into his confidence, there are definite limits on that kind of co-operation. The secretary of state was in the role of the timid bride whose cake baked in secret may be rejected by the petulant bridegroom.

It is a wellnigh intolerable condition. If it continues, and it shows every likelihood of continuing, then the chances are for the opportunity and the responsibility confronting this country will be thrown away as they were thrown away after World War I.

ble that sensible persons will steer clear of.

For example, say this sentence aloud, giving all final -y's the exact sound of short "i": What a pity; it was such a pretty city (what a pity; it was such a pritti citi. Execrable!

Even worse is the dictionary "izz" for the last syllable of such plurals as ladies, babies, cities, as "LAY-dizz, BAY-bizz, cit-izz." How the dictionaries can recommend such atrocious pronunciations and keep a straight face is something I cannot explain. Dictionary makers may talk that way; but no one else ever does. And if I had a third-grader who went around saying, "LAY-dizz in mani cit-izz have pri-ti BAY-bizz," I'd use the hairbrush where it would do the most good.

My advice to the teacher is this: Listen carefully to the radio for a few evenings. Note carefully how final -y and -ies are pronounced. The chances are you'll not hear a single short "i" or an "izz" sound. But you will hear final -y as "ee" and -ies as "eez"—the correct American pronunciations. Don't, I beg of you, try to teach your third-graders otherwise.

guests gathered around a picnic table in the back yard of what appeared to be a millionaire's mansion. The people were joyously eating diverse appetizing things that had been cooked over an outdoor fire.

The outdoor fire, incidentally, was contained in an imposing affair described as a "simple and easily-made" back yard fireplace. According to the writer of that article, he had made it in one afternoon from a few beach pebbles and a handful of cement.

We have a backyard and picnic table but no fireplace. It was natural, therefore, that we should consult a local dealer in building materials and carry off with us a sack of mortar mix. All you do is add water, we were told. It's much better than trying to make your own concrete.

AND STOVES—Before we got around to start work on the fire place somebody threw away our copy of Home Beautiful. All that was left was a hazy impression of a few stones that somehow, perhaps miraculously, had been piled into an imposing monument dedicated to the pleasure of back yard living.

To make a long story shorter, we began with three rocks and a hunk of broken concrete from an old sidewalk. Before the thing was finished we had made several trips into the country for more rocks and had assembled enough of them to build a foundation for the Empire State building. Or to weight down all of the bodies of Home Beautiful editors so they could be dumped into the bay.

A FEW HOURS—In our spare hours—about 40 of them over a three-week period—we went out in the back yard and fiddled around with the rocks and the mortar mix.

Much of the time was spent in mixing the mortar. You take the gray, powdery stuff and put it in an old pail. Then you add water until the mixture is too thin. Then you add more of the mix until it is too thick. Then you add more water, then more mix, then more—well, you finally give up and start to lay the stones when the pail runs over.

Selecting the stones to fit the holes was another time-waster. All the holes were too small or the stones were too large, or vice versa. Out of 263 stones we found one that was just the right size and shape. We put it down to gloat over this victory and when our back was turned the dog picked it up and hid it somewhere.

AND A DOG—It may be true that a dog is man's best friend, but we can assure you that they are useless as helpers on an outdoor fireplace construction job. They want to help, but they aren't built for it. Chris, our springer spaniel, tried to mix the mortar with his nose instead of the paddle and it took time to get him cleaned up. While we removed the mortar so it would not harden on his nose, it set like a rock in the pail and we had to mix

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—Rev. and Mrs. James G. Ward have returned from an interesting and enjoyable trip through Canada.

Manistique—Nels Friberg, state police trooper stationed at Manistique for the past four years, has been transferred to St. Clair, Clair county, effective July 15.

Gladstone—Ann Lagina and Jerome VanLandshoot were united in marriage at All Saints Catholic church yesterday morning at 7:15 o'clock.

Gladstone—Mrs. Jeff Picard and sons, Jack and Dicky, of Milwaukee are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. LaCrosse. Mrs. Picard is a daughter of the LaCrosse's.

Escanaba—Elman Heiner, veteran parachute jumper who thrilled 8,000 spectators at the U. P. Airways, Inc. airport will perform again at the local landing field this afternoon.

Garden—The village of Garden is to have eight street lights, which will be located on the main street and several side streets. The Wisconsin Michigan Power company holds a ten year contract to supply the power and service is scheduled to begin on August 15.

Manistique—Mrs. Jack C. Quick has returned from a three weeks visit with her mother in Houghton.

Gladstone—Howard Mathison and Ed Murphy won the tennis doubles championship of the Gladstone Junior high school, Saturday afternoon by defeating the Russell-Peterson team.

Rock—Mrs. Joseph Palm and son and Mrs. Frank Palm of Escanaba were visitors here Saturday.

another batch.

Finally, to keep his nose out of things, we had to take his nose and the dog it was attached to and put them back in the pen. Some time somebody is going to invent a dog without a nose for the benefit of fireplace builders.

LOTS OF ADVICE—It is amazing how many people know exactly how to build an outdoor fireplace. It is more amazing that none of them ever built one.

While we trifled our time away with the mortar, the stones and the dog, people would drop over to let us in on a little secret. You build the back of it high, they said, and the smoke goes out the front. Leave the back low. If you don't build the back high and put on a chimney there won't be any place for the smoke to go out, said another.

So we built it as high as we could without hauling more rocks and left an inviting opening there for the smoke to go up and out.

Meanwhile we had put in some old grates off a gas stove, purchased at the second hand store, and found they were a little out of line and tipped at about the same angle as the southeast side of Mount Shasta. Oh well, it looks informal that way.

UP OR DOWN—It was nearly dark one recent evening when we finished the fireplace. It looked good. The darker it got the better it looked.

Although it was past the hour for a happy gathering and a jovial outdoor meal as pictured in Home Beautiful we decided to make an immediate test. Touching a match to some paper we placed it in the fireplace and waited for the smoke to go up the chimney. It came out the front.

Multiple Sclerosis

Dear Editor:

The Michigan Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Society has been most active in the fight against Multiple Sclerosis.

The Free Press has given this disease considerable publicity, but in spite of this I realize that there are thousands of people who are not familiar with this great menace. We intend to continue our efforts to make the public aware of this disease.

Probably we are a little more conscious of it here than elsewhere because one of our editorial department employees happens to be a victim.

The Michigan Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Society has been a great aid to us in calling the public's attention to this disease, and there is no doubting their complete sincerity in this matter.

Federal Excise Taxes

Dear Editor:

I am sending this information to you to be used in any way you see fit.

As you know, the Senate Finance Committee recently approved a tax rider cutting federal excise taxes back to 1942 levels generally.

The effect of such a rider, insofar as telephone service is concerned, would be to cut Federal excise taxes on most long distance calls from 25 per cent to 20 per cent, and to cut taxes on local telephone service from 15 to 10 per cent. The measure also applies to amusement admissions, furs, jewelry, telegrams, travel tickets, camera film, etc.

If the excise tax on telephone service were cut according to the above-mentioned pattern, the result would be a savings of $5,700,000 a year to telephone users in Michigan Bell territory. Users in the company's territory are now paying excise taxes at the rate of $19,000,000 a year. The tax calls for 15 percent on local service and 15 percent on long distance calls up to 25c and 25 percent on toll calls of 25c or more.

Michigan Bell acts solely in the capacity of a collection agency for the Federal Government in putting the excise tax on telephone bills. It merely turns the tax over to the Government at monthly intervals.

Yours very truly,
George Marcouiller,
Manager.

Too Much Horn Blowing

Dear Editor:

I get sick and tired of all the unnecessary blowing of automobile horns around this town. Those wedding parties that run up and down Ludington street dragging tin cans and blowing horns get my goat. Those discourteous motorists who sound their horns after creeping up to you at an intersection and scare the wits out of a person also are among my pet peeves. I bet there would be fewer accidents if the horns were taken out of cars for the drivers then would have to drive more slowly.

Feeved Pedestrian.

The lynching of Negroes in the South is no more evil nor more disgraceful in our country's name than is this silly wholesale accusation being made against ransom persons, high and low, ignorantly accusing them of communism, fellow travelerism, what not.—Novelist Pearl Buck.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—A bill vitally affecting small-business men came within a hair's breadth of being passed in congress the other day. The law was so technical that it was difficult for senators and representatives to catch its full significance — let alone the poor public. Also, some congressmen were thrown off guard by the fact that two trusted liberals fronted for the bill. They were: Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Rep. Emmanuel Celler of New York, Democrats.

However, two alert freshmen senators and one sophomore representative intervened. Their amendments should have saved small business from legalized cutthroat competition by which the big trusts could bleed them to death. The three interveners were: Kefauver of Tennessee, Long of Louisiana (son of that famed Huey), with Rep. John Carroll of Denver, all Democrats.

CHAIN OF EVENTS

Here are the facts in the complicated legislative battle which might have wrecked many small-business men.

For two decades and more, certain well-organized groups, such as the cement and steel industries, sold under the basing-point system. This meant that the price of cement was the same in every part of the U. S. A. A cement company in Allentown, Pa., for instance, could absorb the freight costs in shipping to New Orleans, thus selling in Louisiana for the same price it sold in Pennsylvania.

Finally the supreme court intervened, decreed the basing-point system illegal. The cement and other industries could not absorb freight rates in order to fix a standard price in all parts of the country, the supreme court ruled.

At this point, two former champions of little business appeared to reverse themselves.

CHAMPION NO. 1

One of the most respected members of the U. S. senate is sandy-haired, blue-eyed Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming. Beginning as secretary to the late Senator Kendrick of Wyoming, Joe got to know government backward and forward—usually fights for the little fellow—except when it comes to wool. And on wool Joe does an A-1 job for the big sheepmen of his state.

Back in the New Deal days, O'Mahoney was the trust-busting chairman of the temporary national economic committee which had this to say:

"Extensive hearings on basing-point systems showed that they are used in many industries as an effective device for eliminating price competition. . . We therefore recommend that the congress enact legislation declaring such price systems to be illegal."

This was in 1941. Seven years later the U. S. supreme court caught up with Joe O'Mahoney and followed his advice. Whereupon, in 1949, Joe turned around and introduced a bill which partly nullified the supreme court.

Senator O'Mahoney explained that his bill was only clarifying the law. Admittedly the law needed clarifying. For, under the new supreme court ruling, a cement company in Birmingham, Ala., could not absorb freight rates to compete in such a near-by market as New Orleans.

But tucked away in O'Mahoney's bill were these little noticed, but highly significant words: "That it should be legal 'to absorb freight rate to meet the equally low price of a competitor in good faith.'"

Note—Joe's senate colleagues say he has been under terrific pressure from the sugar beet interest's back home to legalize the basing-point system, with the Wyco Trona Development Co., of Green River, Wyo., especially on his neck.

OLD CHAMPION NO. 2

Another former champion of little business has been Rep. "Manny" Celler, vigorous New York Democrat, now head of the potent house judiciary committee, which processed the new O'Mahoney basing-point bill on the house side of congress.

Celler is also a member of the Manhattan law firm of Weisman, Celler, Quinn, Allan and Spett. This firm handles accident cases for the giant A & P chain grocery stores.

A & P is one of the chains hit by the supreme court decision. In fact, A & P was specifically mentioned in the Morton salt case, where it was shown that A & P was actually able to sell salt retail for less than the neighborhood grocers could buy it wholesale. Thus the independent grocer didn't have a chance of competing.

Whatever Manny Celler's motives, he acted strangely out of character in regard to the basing-point bill.

Michigan Happenings In Washington

By ESTHER TUFTY

Washington—Escanaba constituents, in great numbers, are writing their congressman, Charles Potter, to do something about repealing the excise tax on admissions, furs, jewelry, toilet preparations, electrical and photographic equipment, telephone calls, telegrams and transportation.

Mr. Potter describes the excise taxes "as most discriminatory taxes levied." Many are not "luxuries," he says mentioning baby powder, oils, and electric stoves.

"Taxes stifle national income," he claims. Canada has three times reduced taxes since the war and after each reduction the Canadian national income has increased, he said.

According to the congressman, Detroiters take off on trips from Windsor and save 20 per cent on their tickets.

The only Michigan Republican on the Ways and Means Committee, which handles tax legislation, does not agree with his colleagues. Roy Woodruff, of Bay City, is convinced the taxes cannot be repealed until federal expenditures are reduced.

Mr. Potter signed the petition of Minority leader Joseph Martin to get action on a bill for excise tax-reductions.

Crippled Children's 'Dream Camp' Becomes Reality Here

MANY HELP IN BUILDING BEE

Community Joins Rotary To Aid Handicapped

The story of cooperative community interest that boomed modest plans for a bay shore tent camp for crippled children into a full-fledged camp building estimated to cost $8,500 makes inspiring reading.

Beginning years ago as a "dream," the permanent summer camp for crippled and afflicted children of the community was realized in about one month's intensive work and help on the part of many interested persons.

The camp is now opened and operating, thanks to the cooperation of labor with its skilled manpower, to business and industry and to many individuals for contributions, and to many professional men who worked with rake and shovel because they were otherwise "unskilled."

"All we had to do was ask when we needed help—and sometimes we didn't even have to ask," reported James Degnan, chairman of the Escanaba Rotary Club crippled children's committee.

Held Building Bees

Nevin Reynolds and Leslie Olson, members of the crippled children's committee, call realization of the camp "almost a miracle." Other members of the crippled children's committee are Mathias Petersen, John A. Lemmer, Dr. Donald H. Boyce and Dr. William A. LeMire.

When the committee first considered the project it was thought that only a couple shelter tents on board floors might be built this summer on the bay shore at Ford River. Those to whom they confided their plans urged construction of a permanent building and offered cash contributions or labor, or both. The offer of a bay shore lot with 100 feet of frontage on the sand beach, the donation of the Bark River Bridge & Equipment company, Ole Harstad president, emphasized the possibility of immediate permanent camp construction.

The actual outlay of cash for the project was kept to a minimum as site, labor, construction materials and equipment were donated by Delta county business and professional men, unions and building supply houses. Various individuals and organizations contributed generously and the holding of "building bees" brought out many willing hands to make light work of the construction.

Already in Use

Today the camp is in use by the crippled and handicapped children, who will enjoy its facilities for a full four weeks this summer, and for a longer summer period in years to come.

Each morning the children, about 30 of them, are transported to the camp for the day. There they find comfortable accommodations for play and rest in attractive surroundings.

The camp building, designed by Wally Arntzen, is 50 feet long and 30 feet wide. Its construction was supervised by Erling Arntzen and Alfred Brandt. Rustic log siding accents the low horizontal lines of the building, and wide windows give a view of the shore and the bay. A concrete floor, electric outlets, toilet facilities, and the installation later of kitchen equipment will complete the camp for use by the children.

Children Like It

Clarence Moore, physical therapist of orthopedic rooms in the Junior High school, is in charge of the camp, and he is assisted by the following counselors: Jean Hirn, Don Wickholm, Barbara O'Donnell, Jean Beck and Jacqueline VanEffen.

The children assemble at Junior High and leave there for camp at 9 a. m., returning in the afternoon at 4 o'clock. Noon luncheon is cooked in home ec rooms at the high school and is transported to the camp by members of the Rotary Club who volunteered for this service while camp is in session.

Boys and girls from the orthopedic rooms—the polio involvements, the spastics, the cerebral palsies—and the handicapped children from other special departments, such as the sight saving and the oral deaf, find camp life a new and pleasing experience.

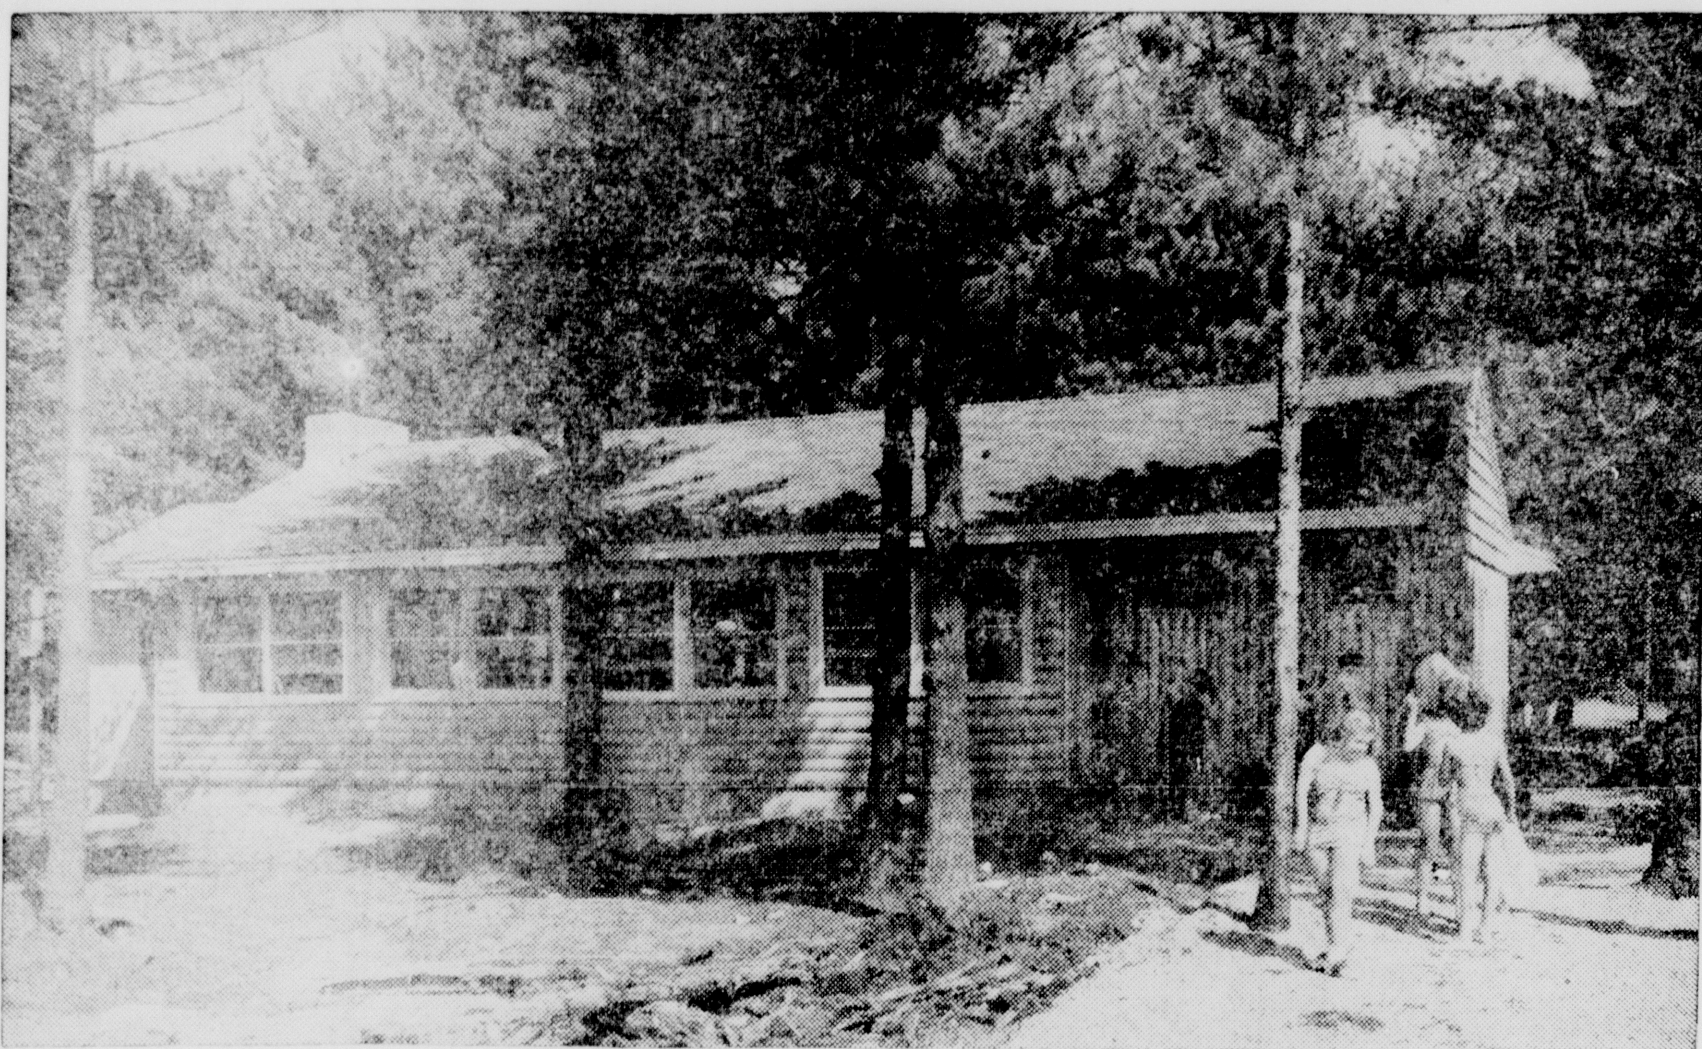

In craft work they know the joy of creating things and take pride in their achievement. There is strengthening of fellowship, a sense of physical well-being, and the emotional experience of adventure in new undertakings.

Games and Swimming

The children are already taking pride in their camp, Moore reports. "It's your camp and you have to do what you can to keep it clean," he announced, and set aside 15 minutes each day for chores. With assistance of counselors the boys and girls have tidied up the grounds, made a beach raft. They sweep the smooth concrete floor—and wash their luncheon dishes. As yet they have not decided on a name for the camp.

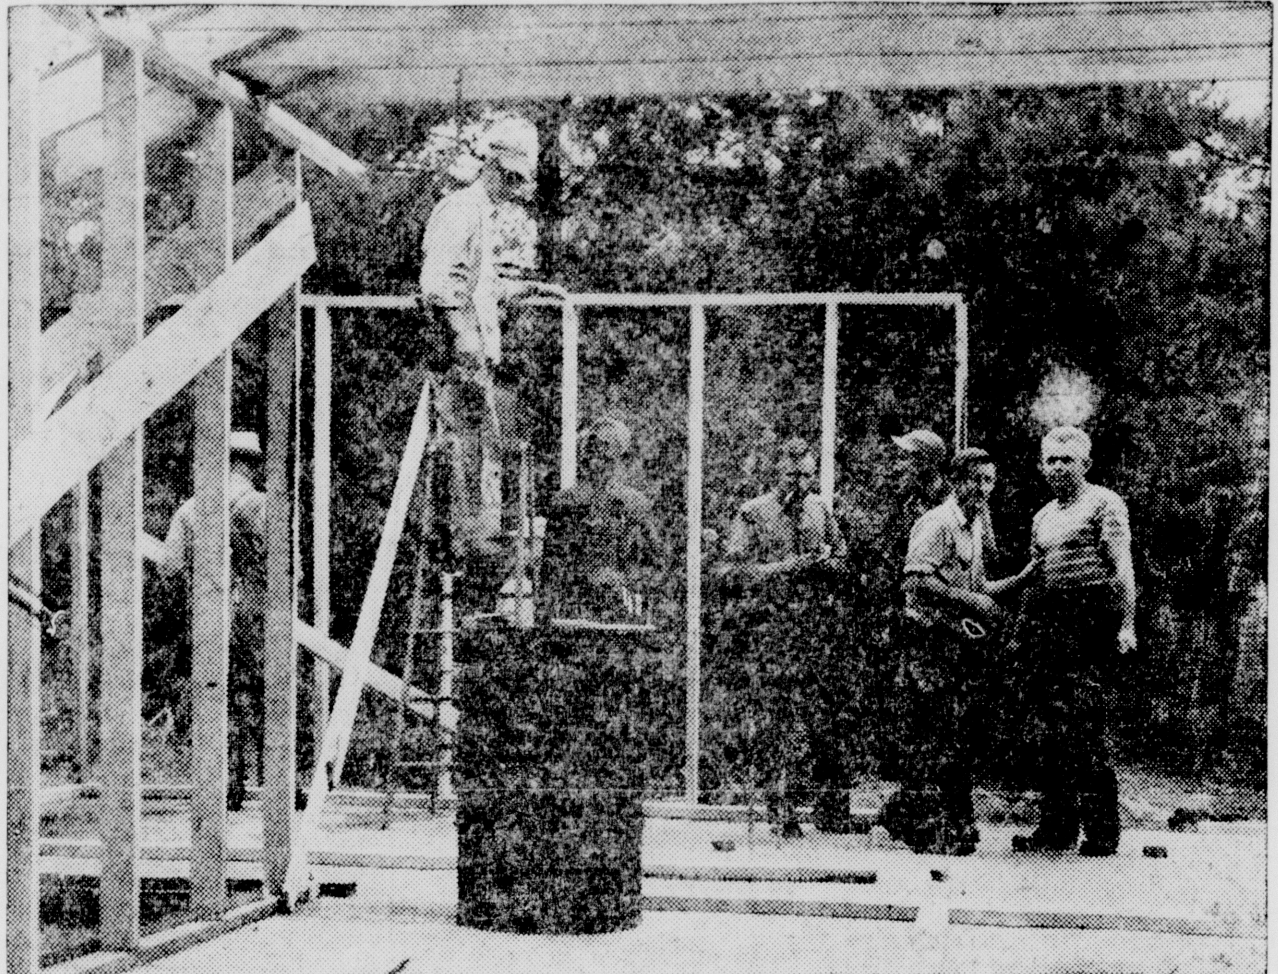

Besides handicraft, the children enjoy games such as badminton, horseshoes, darts, checkers. Surprisingly enough, most of them can swim and are becoming more proficient. No physical therapy treatments are given at camp, but there are benefits of health and spirit that only camp can provide.

Summer day camp for the children was started under Rotary

CAMP AMONG THE PINES—Sheltered by pine trees and fronting on the sand beach at Ford River, the completed crippled children's camp is already in use for the summer. Although built almost entirely by volunteer labor within a period of four weeks, it is soundly constructed and well designed. Features of the camp are the large fireplace in the main room and big windows overlooking the shore and bay. In developing the site a low spot was filled and a gravel driveway to the camp and a walkway to the shore were built. The floors are of concrete, the roofing is fire resistant composition. Plans are being made for a formal dedication of the camp. Some work has to be done on the interior, but about 30 crippled and handicapped youngsters are already enjoying day camp activities there.

MANY HANDS MADE QUICK WORK—When the call was sounded for help, skilled and unskilled, there was quick response. The unions cooperated in supplying their skilled labor, and business and professional "white collar" men handled shovel and rake or acted as helpers.

Here the camp is shown in the process of construction. The concrete floors have been poured and the sidewall framing is going up. Site of the camp, building materials, labor, technical supervision—all were donated along with generous cash contributions.

THEY ALL HELPED—As in any construction job, much of the work was done by skilled labor supplied by the cooperating unions. Men who had worked all day came out to donate their spare hours to the crippled children's camp project. During the long June evenings many man hours of work were put in by men who did not expect, and did not receive, any pay.

FIRST MEAL IN CAMP—Noon luncheon at the new camp is one of the highlights of the day for the boys and girls. They are pictured here with some of the camp counselors. The camp director is Clarence Moore, physical therapist, who reports the young campers sweep the floor, wash the dishes, and do other chores each day. In this big room, 30 by 22 feet, the youngsters do craft work and play games when the weather is bad. Kitchen and toilet facilities are included in the plans although the kitchen has yet to be completed. Rotarians transport the luncheon, including a hot dish and milk, to camp from home economics department in Junior High school.

THE PAINT GOES ON—Painter Anton Hogen represents the many skilled men who donated their time and work to the camp project. In this picture he is shown giving one of the screen doors a protective coating. The doors and millwork, like most of the materials used in constructing the building, were contributed by building supply houses.

SWIMMING IS MOST FUN—Three of the girls, (left to right) Mary Ann Javorek, Bonnie Champeau and Gail Casey, agree that swimming at the beach in front of the new camp is more fun than anything. Swimming is particularly enjoyed by many of the children because of physical handicaps that make possible exercises in water that they cannot accomplish in any other way. The beach at the camp site is one of the finest along the Ford River shore.

THEY'LL GET BETTER—Dartball and other indoor games provide fun for the children when the weather is bad. Pictured (left to right) are Jim Stratton and Gerald Heslip trying out the new dartball board. While there is supervision, the youngsters are encouraged to undertake the crafts or games they most enjoy, so they will find pleasure and a feeling of achievement.

WATCH THAT MOVE!—Engrossed in a game of Chinese checkers on the beach is this group including (left to right) Isabelle Sharp, Bill Doucette, Denis Frederickson and Miss Barbara O'Donnell, one of the camp counselors. The camp period this year will be for four weeks but will be extended next season, an emotional as well as physical experience of benefit to the children. Next year the group is expected to be larger.

Club sponsorship in 1946, with the children housed in tents at Brotherton's resort near the present permanent camp site. That was just ten years after the orthopedic and physical therapy rooms were opened in Junior High school building.

But the dream of community helpfulness to the children began long before that in the work of the Escanaba Rotary Club's crippled children committee. It is noteworthy that the committee has had but two chairmen, the late Herman Gessner, and since his death the present James Degnan. Out of that committee came the inspiration for a community proj-

Bible Camp At Piatt Lake To Open July 23

The Blessed Hope Bible conference at Piatt Lake, seven miles north of Strong's, of which Rev. Arthur A. Glen, leader of the Hiawathaland Independent Baptist Missions, is director, will open its 13th annual season Saturday, July 23, and will be in session for five weeks.

Conference speakers the opening week are:

Rev. Arthur P. Sengpiel, an army chaplain during World War II; Rev. Henry H. Savage, D. D., pastor of Michigan's oldest Baptist church, the First Baptist church of Pontiac; Rev. A. N. Fields, evangelist and Bible teacher, from Gladwin; and Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Melish, missionaries from Liberia, Africa. Speakers for the second week include Rev. L. C. Tucker of Ferndale; Rev. Arthur Fromman of Conservative Baptist Mission from India. Dr. and Mrs. G. G. Crozier, veteran missionaries from Assam; Miss Rosemary Russell of the Sudan Interior Mission from the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan; and Rev. M. D. Christensen, a missionary statesman of the Evangelical Alliance Mission of South Africa, will be the speakers for missionary week August 6-12. Youth week speakers, August 13 to 19 will be Rev. Harold DeVries of the Grace Bible church at Ann Arbor and Mrs. Jennie Fitzwilliam of the China Inland Mission from Lisu-land in China.

Bible Evidences and Christian Training week, August 20 to 26, will have an outstanding staff of speakers: Carl E. DeVries of the Department of Archaeology of Wheaton College; Dr. O. E. Sanden, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, Northwestern University, Minneapolis, who is reputed to be one of America's greatest speakers of science and the Bible; and Rev. William S. Hawks, until recently professor of Greek at the Practical Bible Training School at Binghamton, New York, and now pastor of the Bible Presbyterian church at Merrill, Wis.

Special programs for the children and younger young people will be in charge of Mrs. Alice Pardee and Mrs. Hazel Slater, specialized children's workers from Pontiac.

Daily Program
Rev. Glenn P. Jager, Th.M., of Climax, Michigan will be in charge of music and programs.

The Blessed Hope Bible Conference is a growing work for taking care of the crowds who will attend. Besides the various speakers mentioned, there will be both slide and motion pictures from the various missionaries and Christian schools. There will also be special music and other things of interest. Each day's program has 3 periods through the forenoon beginning at 9 o'clock, and an evening program at 7:30. The afternoons are for supervised recreation which includes swimming, hiking, boating, baseball, and other activities. On Sunday there is no fishing, swimming, or other recreational activities. The public is welcome at all meetings and cordially invited. Dormitories and cottages are available for those who desire to stay at the conference and meals are available in the dining room. A booklet also makes available Christian books and literature.

STATE BAR AT BLANEY PARK

Meeting Was In Nature Of Legal Institute

The State Bar of Michigan held a two-day session at Blaney Park Thursday and Friday with the Schoolcraft County Bar serving as host to the gathering.

The sessions began with a noon day luncheon Thursday with Claude W. Coates, of Sault Ste. Marie presiding and William J. Sheehan, of Manistique delivering the welcoming address.

In the afternoon session which followed the luncheon, Jacob L. Kiedon, of Detroit spoke on the topic, "Setting Up the Small Business Enterprise." He was followed by Arnold W. Laugenshausen, also of Detroit, whose topic was "Some Practical Aspects of Federal Taxation."

Raymond Turner, of Iron Mountain presided at the 6:30 dinner. Addresses of the evening were given by Frank H. Boos, president of the State Bar of Michigan; and Charles H. King, dean of the Detroit College of Law. The latter enlarged on the topic, "Some Laws for Lawyers."

The Friday morning session was given over to a talk by Harold S. Night, of the Detroit bar, on the subject "Trial of Negligence Cases."

S. W. Patek, of Ironwood, state bar commissioner at large, presided at the noon and afternoon sessions at which E. Blyth Stason, dean of the University of Michigan Law school, commissioner of the State Bar of Michigan and a national authority on administration of the bar, presided at the subject "Should Michigan Adopt an Administrative Code."

The session was in the nature of a legal institute.

Swim Classes At Indian Lake Are Well Attended

Swim sessions, conducted under the direction of the Manistique, have been unusually popular this year so popular, in fact that the bus that has ordinarily carried the youthful swimmers to Indian lake has become too small and the largest school bus in the area has been pressed into service.

The average number of small youngsters who make up the morning swim class will be about seventy this week—on one or two occasions the number was closer to eighty. The afternoon group numbers about forty each trip. Swimming instruction, under Ray Ranguette, lifeguard and swim instructor began the first of the week.

FOREIGN NEWS JOB IS ROUGH

Roving Correspondent
Has No Nap

By ROBERT C. RUARK
New York—You knew a few of the 13 newspapermen who were killed in the Bombay airplane crash, and certainly you would never go maudlin over the accident, since such an occurrence is almost calculated risk and a possibility of which the potential victim is never completely unaware.

But there is small general realization of the hazards besetting a "peace" correspondent who travels constantly for his bread and butter. In many respects the life of a roving foreign correspondent is considerably less easy and not much less dangerous than during the war, when he had the full backing of the military and the use of its broad transportation facilities.

There is some sort of suspicion in the lay mind—probably fostered by Hollywood—that the roving foreign correspondent is the glamorous boy of the trade, who unsettles governments, prevents wars, and flits from one blond temptress to another. Actually he works harder and often lives worse than the police-run expert.

Laundry Is Problem
The getting of news and the cabling of news back home is a minute portion of the correspondent's day. Unless he is permanently settled in a major metropolis, he spends most of his time fighting a constant battle with his environment.

He must travel light, of necessity, so keeping clean is a daily major problem. Laundry weighs as heavily on his mind as cable tolls. He is in a constant battle about currency, and in time becomes a skilled black marketer. This is necessary, in a majority of foreign lands, where the pegged rate of exchange is ridiculous in light of the actual value of the money. Government restrictions make him a thief if he is to get any tangible worth from his dollar.

Bribery occupies his time, even though it is against his will. You get skilled at petty bribery, after awhile. It might range from a few cigarettes for a customs official to a more substantial present to a petty functionary who is stubbornly holding up an exit visa. It might be a gift of food for information, or a flat cash outlay for a squealer. But it's there and it's necessary, conscience or no.

Transportation is a constant pain in the neck and also the caboose. In time, a practicing correspondent will ride jeeps and ancient taxis, rickshaws and sampans, stinking, unseaworthy ferries, fifth-class trains full of fleas, antiquated aircraft and possibly camels. The arrangement of this transportation and the time spent on it alone would constitute a 40-hour work week, gray hairs thicken on the thatch as a result of some of the harebrained flights and voyages you are forced to make.

Black Market Food
Food is always an annoying necessity and its procurement a constant nuisance. Here again a man must back up on his natural ethics and plunge again into the black market, if he intends to stay reasonably healthy in most places he visits. Even so, a constant change of diet and water keeps the steady traveler about half-sick most of the time. Dysentery finally becomes a small annoyance—until it lays you up for permanent.

The foreign rover becomes accustomed to shaving in cold water, and having no water, and having the lights out most of the day. He becomes accustomed to insulting his innards with odd liquors—yes, they still drink—and strange vittles. He becomes used to being overcold and overhot and sleepless and dirty and crummy and insectgnawed. He masters the currency and the transportation and licks the language with an interpreter.

Then he goes to work. Working nearly in the dark, because the home office and his own papers are thousands of miles away, he then proceeds to tackle rank strangers on tough problems. He has to scrap with bureaucracy and dictators, stuffy diplomats and influential military officials. Far from home and advice, he is forced to make up his own mind about the validity of his findings. He writes them down and cables them in, subject sometimes to censorship and often to expulsion or even physical violence up to and including murder—if some powers take exception to his file.

This is the life of today's Galahad of the press, and in all aspects of it, our friends, Bill Newton and Burt Heath, who died in Bombay, were as good as they come.

ISABELLA

Personals
Isabella, Mich.—Pvt. Gene Moberg arrived Sunday from Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., for a two weeks' furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Moberg, after which he will be assigned to overseas duty.

Shirley Nadeau has returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Leonard Papineau in Escanaba.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Billstrand of Chicago are vacationing at the Helen Ranguette home on Moss Lake.

Hermansville Church Will Be Re-Dedicated By Bishop On July 26

The Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, D. D., Bishop of Marquette, will preside at the solemn ceremonies of the re-opening and rededication of the church of St. Mary, Hermansville, July 26.

The ceremonies will begin at 7:30 p. m., E. S. T., when the bishop, escorted by his court and the clergy, will enter the church and bless the renovated building, the new staturary, and the new altar. As the bishop enters the church, he will be greeted by the pastor, Fr. Paquet, and the choir will intone the hymn "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus."

The color scheme of decoration, befitting the title of the church "The Immaculate Conception," uses pastel shades of ivory, blue and gold. The main altar, with shining marble front, is surmounted by a beautiful statue of the Immaculate Conception in two-tone ivory standing high above the altar under a canopy of blue and gold damask.

Hermansville's first derord, as a mission from the parish of Spalding, date back to April 9, 1880, with Father Martel signing it.

Pastors of the parish since 1880 were: Fr. Theodore Majerius (1881), Fr. Edward Borda (1882), Fr. G. Bellevue (1889), Father Dassyva (1890), Father Regis (1891), Fr. Anthony Keller (1892), Father Cavicchi (1894), Father Molinar (1896), Father Glaser (1896), Father Sutter, Father Papon, Fr. J. Burns, Fr. Frederick Glaser, Fr. Anthony Waechter, Fr. Joseph Dittman, now the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Dittman of Negaunee; Fr. John Crocker, Fr. John Henn, Fr. George Stuntback, Fr. H. N. Gagne, Fr. J. N. Hollinger, Father Hennelly, Fr. Gerard LeMothe, Father Belot and Fr. Paquet, present pastor.

In 1901, while Fr. Frederick Glaser was pastor, Hermansville was erected as a parish and built its first church, of which part of the exterior is still standing. The rectory, which stands as one of the finest in the rural diocesan districts, was built in 1907, while Father Dittman was pastor.

Under Father Hennelly the parish improved the church property by enlarging the basement for use as a parish hall and landscaped the north and south grounds. Trees were planted then.

The present church at Hermansville was extensively damaged by fire March 15, 1949. It is now completely restored.

Five of the former pastors are expected to attend the reopening

PLAN OUTBOARD RACE PROGRAMS

Events Scheduled For
July 19, Aug. 14

Two outboard race programs are being planned by the Gladstone Yacht club.

The first will be held Tuesday evening, is to be a farathon from the club to Masonville and return with the winner to receive the Huesener trophy.

A ladies' night entertainment program will be held at the clubhouse following the race.

On Sunday, August 14, a series of five races similar to the program held here July 4, is to be sponsored.

Invitations will be sent to outboard enthusiasts of Northern Michigan and Wisconsin.

Two hundred and fifty dollars has been set up as prizes for the various events.

A nominal charge is to be made for adult spectators in order to assist in underwriting the expenses of the meet.

Troopers Issue Traffic Tickets

Traffic tickets were issued by Michigan State Police to Andrew Burnette of Rapid River for driving an auto with defective brakes and to Dick Danielson, Escanaba, for failure to stop for a through highway.

Quorum Is Lacking, Vote Not Canvassed

Because of lack of a quorum canvass of the vote cast in last Monday's school election could not be made nor could the board be reorganized. This will be done later in the week.

The first almanac in this country came off the Bradford Press in Philadelphia in 1687.

svices and will be guests at a parish banquet at 5:30 p. m., with the bishop, clergy and other persons of religious rank attending.

Alex Raiche was in charge of restoration of the interior and Patrick Grenier, president of the Holy Name society, was in charge of the altar.

The new parish hall, equipped with a modern lighting system, has been greatly improved.

DAY CAMP TO OPEN TUESDAY

Brownie, Intermediate
Scouts To Attend

The annual Day Camp for Girl Scouts of Gladstone, Escanaba, Nahma and Rapid River will open next Tuesday at Bunker Hill near the Athletic Field.

The camp will be open for four days next week and also from July 26 to 29.

Ruth Peterson of Negaunee will be the camp director. She has conducted similar camps both at Negaunee and Ishpeming.

The camp is open to Brownie Scouts, in the 7 to 10 year classification, and to Intermediates, in the 10 to 14 year group.

The camp will operate from 9:30 to 4:30 daily and one meal and milk will be provided the girls.

A charge of 50 cents per day is made to help defray costs of the camp.

Camping, handicraft and nature study will be taught.

About half of our sheep and lambs come from the grazing lands of Texas, California, Wyoming, Montana, Colorado and Idaho.

Insurance Agent Locates in City

Don Grenfell, formerly of Ishpeming, district agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., has located in Gladstone and is establishing an agency here. He has purchased the Robert Patterson home at 217 S. Tenth street where his agency will be located.

He will supervise agents of the company in Delta, Dickinson and Menominee counties.

Grenfell is married and has three children, Nancy, Jimmy and Cathy.

According to the Book of Knowledge, the word clock is a fairly new addition to the English language, coming from the French word, cloche, which referred to the bells which marked the hours of devotion and work in monasteries.

Danaher Top Choice For GOP Chairman

Taft and Dewey Favor Former Senator

By JACK BELL
Washington, July 15 (AP)—Friends of both Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York were reported leaning today toward former Senator John Danaher of Connecticut as a successor to GOP National Chairman Hugh D. Scott Jr.

Danaher's name was tossed into the pot as Scott finally conceded publicly that he will quit his post if a man can be found "who can bring the desired harmony and cohesiveness to the party organization."

Scott made it official yesterday, along with a broad hint that he won't be forced out of office by the same group which tried unsuccessfully to oust him last January.

He won then on a 54 to 50 vote. Now his friends claim they have nearly 60 of the national committee's full total of 106 votes back of him to resist an ouster move.

Mention of Danaher came from close friends of Taft, who has been keeping abreast of the intra-party fight. They said talks with Dewey supporters indicated that Danaher would be acceptable to them.

As an indication of how the Scott camp might feel toward the former Connecticut senator, Senator Martin (R-Pa.) told a reporter he thinks Danaher "would make a good chairman."

Policeman Killed By Calcutta Bomb; 40 Persons Injured

Calcutta, India, July 15 (AP)—A bomb explosion during an address by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, in which he denounced Communism, killed a policeman and injured more than 40 persons yesterday.

When Nehru condemned Communist terrorist activities in Calcutta, Communists attacked other listeners in the audience estimated to number 1,000,000 persons. A man identified by police as a Communist fired a revolver three times at a police officer, but missed.

Extensive precautions had been taken beforehand. Nearly 2,000 police were on duty. Nehru asked them not to interfere but let the people quiet the hecklers.

Following the address, disturbances were resumed in various parts of the city. Nehru had told his audience he could not understand how a handful of people could terrorize Calcutta's 5,500,000 inhabitants. He characterized Indian Communists as the greatest enemy of their own movement.

Hiss Trial Judge Under Criticism, Upheld by Truman

Washington, July 15 (AP)—Federal Judge Samuel Kaufman's conduct of the Alger Hiss perjury trial in New York has been strongly upheld by President Truman.

The president told his news conference yesterday he appointed Kaufman to the bench and considers him a good judge. Mr. Truman said his authority for that is former secretary of war Robert P. Patterson. The latter also has upheld Judge Kaufman's conduct in the Hiss case.

Kaufman has been criticized in Congress and elsewhere for his handling of the trial—Reps. Nixon (R-Calif.) and Velde (R-Ill.) said he showed bias for Hiss. The jury failed to agree on a verdict. Hiss was charged with falsely denying before a federal grand jury that he passed state department secrets to Whittaker Chambers, admitted former courier for a Soviet spy ring. Chambers said he did.

In addition to defending Judge Kaufman, President Truman said he didn't consider it a very good idea to attempt to discredit the judiciary.

PRISON GUARD KILLED
Lansing, July 15 (AP)—Paul Perkins, 58, of Jackson, a guard at Southern Michigan prison, was killed last night when he was struck by a car on US-127 south of here.

The flag should be displayed during school days in or near every schoolhouse.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Condition Improving—John P. Norton, publisher of the Escanaba Daily Press, is recovering rapidly from surgery to which he submitted recently at the Colonial hospital in Rochester, Minn., and has been transferred from the Colonial to the Kahler. It is expected that he will be dismissed the first of the week and Frank J. Lindenthal will leave for Rochester Sunday to make the return trip with Mr. and Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Frank W. Harrison of Detroit.

Speech Class To Start—A class in beginning speech correction, a group No. 1 subject, will be given at the Escanaba junior high school Aug. 8-26 under the sponsorship of Northern Michigan College of Education and with Forest A. Roberts, of NMCE faculty, as instructor. It will be a day course. Persons interested in enrolling are asked to notify Hagley Quarantini, Delta county superintendent of schools, Webster annex.

Long-Range Housing Measure Signed By President Truman

Washington, July 15 (AP)—President Truman signed the long-range housing bill today and said it must be put into operation quickly.

The president called in more than a score of sponsors of the legislation for the signing ceremony.

Passage of the bill by congress last week gave Mr. Truman his first major victory in his "Fair Deal" legislative program.

In a statement, Mr. Truman said the measure "equips the federal government, for the first time, with effective means for aiding cities in the vital task of clearing slums and rebuilding blighted areas."

He said he is submitting to congress "immediately" a request for additional appropriations necessary to finance the program this year.

The most controversial provision of the bill authorizes construction of 810,000 public housing units during the next six years.

It also provides for slum clearance and aids to farm housing.

Housing Administrator Raymond M. Foley has promised a "rapid start" of the public housing features. He said he hopes to get 50,000 publicly-owned dwelling units under way within the first year.

Porcupine Mountain Highway Extension Is Ordered Stopped

Roscommon, Mich., July 15 (AP)—A stop order was issued yesterday by the conservation commission on proposals to extend highway M-107 running from Ontonagon into the Porcupine Mountains state park.

Department officials and the highway department had been discussing extending the highway nearly a mile to the top of a scenic escarpment and building a parking area at the end.

Commissioner Harold Glassen of Lansing objected that Michigan was running out of wilderness areas and that installing a parking lot on top of one of the few remaining would ruin its attraction. No action will be taken until the commissioners visit the park sometime this fall.

The department of parks division was given the go-ahead to proceed with plans to build a ski slope, ski tow and warming shelter in the park with the use of prison labor.

Ray L. Rose Family To Make Home Here

Ray L. Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rose of 521 South 14th street, and a graduate of Escanaba High school, Class of 1936, has moved to Escanaba from Menominee with his family. They reside at 218 Stephenson avenue.

He is representative here of the Hardware Dealers Mutual Fire Insurance company and the Hardware Mutual Casualty company, succeeding Al Harris, Rose's territory includes six Upper Peninsula counties. He has lived in Menominee since 1942, except for a period of service in the U. S. Navy during the war. Mr. and Mrs. Rose have two children.

George Lorenson, 88, Early Delta Settler, Dies Thursday Nite

George Lorenson, 88, resident of Delta county for 65 years, died at 9:30 p. m., Thursday in St. Francis hospital where he had been receiving treatment for the past month, following a stroke he suffered Memorial Day.

George Lorenson was born May 13, 1861, in Denmark, and came to the United States in 1880, settling in Manitowoc, Wis. Four years later he moved to Stonington and until 1936 operated a farm there. After retiring in 1936, he moved to Bark River where he made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Alfred C. Neilsen. Mrs. Lorenson died in 1942.

In addition to his daughter, he leaves seven grand children, two great grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

The body was removed to Boyle funeral home in Bark River and will lie in state beginning at noon Saturday. Sunday noon the body will be taken to Salem Lutheran church in Bark River to lie in state until the funeral hour. Services will be conducted by the Rev. Maynard O. Hansen at 2 p. m. Sunday and burial will be made in the family lot in Bark River cemetery.

U. P. Police Search For Inmate Escapee From Prison Camp

State and local police throughout the Upper Peninsula are on the lookout for Lionel Sims, 36, inmate who walked away from the Marquette branch prison honor camp about 9 last night.

Police of the Gladstone post described Sims as follows: five feet eight and three-quarters inches tall, weighing 212 pounds, brown hair, hazel eyes, small scar on the left side of the bridge of his nose, light florid complexion and wearing blue overalls and blue shirt at the time of his escape. He was sentenced from Kent county Feb. 2, 1949, on an uttering and publishing (bad check) charge.

Radick Named Head Coach at Menominee

Menominee, Mich., July 15 (AP)—Assistant Coach Kenneth M. Radick was named head football coach at Menominee high school yesterday to succeed E. J. McCormick, recently appointed to a similar post at Carroll college, Waukesha, Wis.

A native of Green Bay, Radick formerly played with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

White House Has Secret Meeting

men's agreement" that no one but the president would say anything. Mr. Truman walked to the door with the last two to leave—secretaries Acheson and Johnson.

He was smiling as he chatted with them briefly in the ante-room, in sharp contrast to Barkley's stern features and the sharp tone with which the vice president told questioners:

"Not a damn thing," which he later withdrew and changed to "I've got no statement. There will be no statement from anybody except the president, if he makes one."

Not Fit To Print

Senator McMahon followed this with the remark that "any statement will come from the president," and Lillenthal sounded the same note: "If there is anything to say, the president will say it."

General Eisenhower was asked what he made of the affair. "It's a hot evening and rainy," he replied pleasantly and set out for his car.

Acheson contributed a curt "no statement," and told a questioner he didn't know whether the president would make one.

Tydings, who left the meeting early because of a cold, was asked if Russia and the atomic bomb was involved. He said he "wouldn't think so." Later he told reporters they wouldn't want a news "beat" because "you wouldn't print it if you had it for the good of the country."

There was a general feeling that the meeting transcended the joint committee's long investigation into Hickenlooper's charges against the AEC and Lillenthal. But observers did note that Hickenlooper himself has raised questions about relations with other countries on atomic energy during the investigation which now has entered a "closed door" phase.

At the outset of the inquiry, some seven weeks ago, the Iowa senator asked for the Hyde Park aide memoir—never further identified; the memorandum on atomic energy in the U. S.-British-Russian Potsdam conference, which Mr. Truman attended; the joint United States-United Kingdom statement on atomic energy issued sometime after the war and information from the Quebec conference attended by the late President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.

Capitol Hill Buzzes

The documents were not furnished to the committee. Last Saturday, Hickenlooper told reporters that he still thinks certain international aspects of the atomic energy program should be made public. He said they concerned relations with other countries. He would not elaborate other than to say he intended first to take the matter up in a closed door committee session.

The testimony of Dr. Robert F. Bacher, former member of the AEC, also touched sharply on international knowledge of atomic weapons. He predicted to the joint committee that Great Britain would be successful in producing the atomic bomb.

He also told the committee that both British and Canadian scientists had taken an active part in the wartime development of the bomb at Los Alamos, N. M., and had a thorough knowledge of it.

Bacher added that since the passage of the atomic energy act in 1946 the cooperation between the three nations had been "zero" because of the restrictions in the law.

There were some unconfirmed views that renewed cooperation between the three, in view of the present international situation, might have been the main subject of last night's discussion.

Whatever the subject, there appeared little doubt but what the meeting would be discussed widely—privately and probably publicly—on Capitol Hill.

With the AEC already under attack and a furious debate going on over the pact and the administration's proposed foreign arms program, there appeared little doubt but that law makers would seize the secret meeting for numerous questions and inquiries.

London Dock Strike Peace Plan Framed

Servicemen Unload Food From Waiting Ships

London, July 15 (AP)—Union leaders have promised to seek a peace plan for ending London's wildcat dock strike which has idled 14,289 dockers and tied up 134 ships.

The leaders issued a statement last night after a three-hour session with an unofficial committee of the wildcat strikers. They said they would "explore all avenues to effect a settlement" of the crippling strike.

Meanwhile, servicemen continued to go into the miles of wharves to bring off food and other perishables.

Officials, running the docks under a state of emergency declared by King George VI, said that by today there will be some 7,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen manning the docks.

Britain's motor industry declared the dock stoppage was crippling its export of some 5,000 cars, trucks and tractors weekly through the London waterfront.

Both laborites and conservatives in Parliament have condemned the stoppage.

The strikers argue they are being prevented from working by the Dock Labor Board which insisted no ships could be unloaded until the men removed the cargoes from two Canadian ships involved in a strike of Canadian seamen.

The Longshoremen have refused to work those ships.

Peltier Vs. Pryal Jury Trial Is Now In Third Day Here

Jury trial in the suit of Joseph Peltier for a judgment of $700 against James D. Pryal today entered its third day with additional witnesses being subpoenaed and the prospect that the jury might not receive the case before tomorrow.

Judge Glenn W. Jackson, presiding at the trial, extended to Monday at 9 a. m. the time for other members of the jury venire to report back for duty. On Wednesday after the panel for the Peltier vs. Pryal trial was drawn the court dismissed the other jurors until Friday.

In the suit now being heard, Peltier claims that Pryal owes him $700 under an agreement made in 1944 for the purchase of personal property.

Seventeen witnesses have so far been heard and it is expected that additional witnesses will be called by the defense. Since yesterday noon the following witnesses have been on the stand: Oscar Arntzen, Albin Roos, Dalip Rehnquist, William Rapin, Hans P. Hansen, Mrs. Julia Pryal, Joseph Beltzer and the defendant, Pryal.

Dr. Hollick Leaves VA; Private Practice

Dr. A. A. Hollick has terminated his service as senior dental officer of the Escanaba office of the Veterans Administration and will take up private practice in a second floor office in the First National bank building.

He has been with the VA since Dec. 1946. His resignation takes effect today. Dr. Hollick will devote his full time to private practice.

treatment of disease, injury, fractures and dislocations. (More than 370 surgical procedures.)

Anyone Under 65 May Enroll

Any person under 65 years of age, residing in this area, may enroll in Blue Cross Community Plans during the campaign. Once a member, you can keep Blue Cross even after you become 65, with no reduction in benefits. No physical examination—no medical history. (Benefits for chronic and pre-existing conditions and removal of children's tonsils and adenoids available after six months' membership.)

Non-Profit Means Low Rates

Rates for hospitalization and surgical protection under the non-profit Blue Cross Community Plans are as low as $2.35 per month for one person; and only $6.12 per month for husband, wife, and all unmarried children under 19 years old.

You Can Benefit Even More Under a Group Plan

For firms employing five or more people, special Blue Cross Group Plans offer even greater benefits, including a plan for payment of the doctor's hospital calls in non-surgical cases. Talk over with your employer how your company can arrange for this protection. Farmers can take advantage of Group Plan benefits by forming a group through the Grange or Farm Bureau.
